

I feel the no-call list should be preserved for as long as customers wish to be included on it. I resent having general telemarketers interrupt my time, as well as political interruptions as we just experienced prior to the Presidential election. The public should have some input as to whether they should be subjected to this interruption or not. PROTECT THE NO-CALL LIST for those of us who wish to be on it - if people want to receive telemarketer calls, they can stay off the list. But at least give us the choice. Thank you.
